

HeiTech Services, Inc. Celebrates 10 Years in Business

Landover, MD – October 13, 2009 – HeiTech Services, Inc. of Landover, Maryland, announced the company's upcoming 10th Anniversary. On October 25, 1999, President and CEO, Heidi W. Gerding, and Executive Vice President, James R. Clement, launched HeiTech Services from an office located in the basement of her home.

HeiTech Services began as a small, two-person solutions provider specializing in Information Technology services for the federal government. Over the past ten years, the company has experienced consistent, sustainable growth, expanded to become a viable, mid-sized organization with nearly 500 employees, and introduced two additional business lines ~ Management Consulting and Professional Services.

“When my business partner, Jim Clement and I started HeiTech Services, we invested all that we had, and to us, failure was not an option,” said Heidi Gerding, President & CEO. “We embarked on our small business journey with a promise to honor the commitments we made to our customers. Today, I am proud to say that after a decade in business, we continue to fulfill that promise by consistently providing the best and brightest staff to deliver outstanding solutions to our customers.” Mrs. Gerding continues, “Establishing a strong senior management team to execute our vision, forging strong working relationships with trusted advisors who provide sound business counsel, and creating a corporate culture that recognizes employee achievements have all contributed to our ability to continually deliver excellence in our customer solutions.”

HeiTech Services proudly celebrates ten years in business. As we mark this milestone achievement, we would like to thank our customers, vendors, friends and family for helping to make it possible.
